

Prepare for Your Adenocarcinoma Treatment in Turkey

Documents and Visa Requirements

- Passport valid for at least six months beyond your stay with at least one blank visa page.
- Visa requirements can vary; check the latest information based on your nationality at the official Republic of Turkey Electronic Visa Application System at www.eviza.gov.tr.
- Medical reports and history, biopsy results, and any imaging (CT scans, MRIs) relevant to your Adenocarcinoma diagnosis.
- Clinics in Turkey may provide diagnostics and additional tests if your medical documents are incomplete.

Accommodation Options

Clinics in Turkey may offer hospital stays for the duration of the treatment. Some clinics have partnerships with nearby hotels, offering discounted rates for patients. Free accommodation is not typically provided, but special arrangements can sometimes be made for long-term treatments. The average hotel stay per night can range from $50 to $150. Accompanying persons are usually welcomed, and conditions for their stay will depend on the clinic and hotel policies.

Transfer Services

- Some clinics offer free airport transfers, while others may charge a fee.
- Popular taxi services such as BiTaksi and iTaksi operate in major cities, with an approximate cost of $0.50-$1.00 per kilometer.

Interpreter Services

Interpreter services are often available for non-Turkish speakers, either free of charge or at an additional cost, depending on the clinic's policies.

Payment Methods

- Payments can usually be made using cash or credit/debit card.
- The local currency is the Turkish Lira (TRY), and it's recommended to have some cash for minor expenses.
- Many places also accept payments in major currencies such as USD or EUR.

Before Your Adenocarcinoma Treatment

- Discuss with your doctor any medications you're currently taking and any allergies.
- Follow any pre-treatment instructions provided by your medical team, including diet and medication adjustments.
- Plan for adequate recovery time post-treatment, as advised by your doctor.
- Ensure you have travel insurance that covers medical treatment abroad.
- Avoid smoking and alcohol before your treatment, as they can affect recovery.
- Prepare a list of questions and concerns to discuss with your doctor during the consultation.
- Arrange for assistance or care for when you return home after treatment.
- Keep a positive mindset and trust in the expertise of your medical professionals.
