

Prepare for Your Radioiodine Therapy Trip to Turkey

Documents and Visa Requirements

- Valid passport or travel document with an expiration date beyond the duration of your visit to Turkey.
- Check visa requirements for Turkey at the official Republic of Turkey Electronic Visa Application System or through the Turkish consulate website based on your country of origin.
- Medical referral for Radioiodine therapy, medical history, and recent test results are crucial.
- Clinics in Turkey can provide essential diagnostics and tests if certain medical documents are missing.

Accommodation Options

Many clinics in Turkey offer free or discounted accommodation options, including hospital stays, partner hotels, or assistance with self-booking. Average hotel stay per night ranges from $50 to $150.

Transfer Services

- Clinics typically offer free airport transfers; some may provide VIP transfer services.
- Popular taxi services like BiTaksi and iTaksi in major cities have approximate prices starting from $10.

Interpreter Services

Interpreter services are often provided free of charge by the clinics during your treatment. However, for additional assistance, private services may incur costs.

Payment Methods

- Payment can be made with cash or card.
- The local currency is the Turkish Lira, and it is advisable to have some for small expenses.
- Many places also accept payment in dollars or euros.

Pre-Op Radioiodine Therapy Tips

- Follow a low-iodine diet as advised by your doctor before the treatment.
- Stay hydrated and avoid alcohol or tobacco products.
- Organize your travel insurance and ensure it covers the specific treatment.
- Bring comfortable clothing for your hospital stay and recovery period.
- Inform your medical coordinator about any medications you are taking.
- Plan for someone to accompany you if possible, for support during your treatment.
- Prepare a list of questions or concerns to discuss with your doctor before the therapy.
- Ensure you have all travel arrangements confirmed, including flights and accommodations.
